

33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time

Gerry Boyle PP. 046 9054138

Thanks to the compliance of people, Covid cases seem to be decreasing. Please keep safe and follow the guidelines. Discussion continues about a return to public Mass but, in the meantime, the churches remain open for private prayer. Thanks to our sacristans who make this possible.

I offer Mass along with the Mass on RTÉ News Now at 10.30am each morning.

Masses this week

Monday Mary and Harry White and daughter Kitty Farrell

Tuesday Lal and Daisy Monaghan

Wednesday Mike and Anna Farrell and deceased members of Farrell and Smith families

November is the month when we remember and pray for the dead. We are particularly conscious of families and communities who could not mark the death of loved ones in the usual ways in recent months.

The plenary indulgence available from visiting a cemetery and praying for the deceased, normally available in the first week of November, is extended this year for the whole month of November, and for this year only can be availed of by praying for the dead at home.

A page of special prayers for a visit to the cemetery, or to be said at home, is available from the back of the churches.

Lists of the dead can be returned to the ParochialHouse over the next few weeks.

Mass will continue to be offered for those on the current list on the First Friday of every month.

Autumn leaves are falling, the trees will soon be bare;
a multitude of endings surround me everywhere.
So much that bloomed so brightly now seems a world away,
it's glory but a memory, supplanted by decay.

Yet hidden in the darkness, beneath the silent earth,
already shoots are forming - a promise of new birth.
And softly you are saying, to those with ears to hear,
though death for now brings sorrow, keep hope and do not fear.
Yes, life may seem extinguished, but days to come will bring beginnings after endings, in place of winter, spring.

The Prayer Trust

Online donations can now be made to parish and diocesan collections via the Diocesan website.

Please read the note from the Bishop, attached below.

Note from the Bishop:

There is now a live online donation facility via the Diocese of Meath website (www.dioceseofmeath.ie) which will allow individuals to donate either directly to their Parish of their choice or to one of the central Diocesan funds. There are two electronic 'Donate Buttons' on the front page of the website. The first button is called 'Parish Collections'. This button allows you to donate to any of our 69 Parishes. The second button is called 'Diocesan Collections'. This allows a donor to donate to the central Diocesan fund, the fund for Sick and Retired Priests or the fund for the Training of Students for Priesthood.
